NO COUNCIL MEETING

No Quorum—Citizens Present for a Dr. Lyons' Sermons Attract Widespread Attention.

While there was no meeting of the council yesterday, due to the fact that it was impossible to obtain a quorum of the members, there were present a number of residents of the city who are interested in opposing the extension of the street car line down the Bayview driveway. Among those who were there for the purpose were Judge Jessie Wright and H. H. Craig. It had been their intention to make strenuous opposition to the extension of the car line upon the driveway. The failure of the council to hold a session, however, rendered their presence unnecessary.

It seems probable that there will be a called meeting of the city council at an early date to take up several matters which are desired to be placed before the meeting. The street car company is anxious to know the final decision of the council concerning the extension of the line down the Bayview driveway, and City Attorney W. K. Pope, who has returned from an extended trip to the North, has several matters to bring before the council.

It was rumored yesterday that another gas franchise was due to be presented to the council at an early date, but the source of the rumor could not be ascertained.

Union Men Plan Central Body to Further Interests.

A number of the leading union men of the city are agitating the organization of a central labor council, to include the printers, carpenters, perhaps painters and barbers. Later, when the clerks and chauffeurs have secured their charters, they will also be included in the council.

The council plan is worked in all of the larger cities and has been found very effective in the furthering of organized labor interests.

Gen. P. Bleeding, of the printers, and R. L. Dixie, of the painters, will appear before the barbers and carpenters union and suggest that that they will agree to the joint and a charter will then be asked of the American Federation of Labor.

The examinations began Thursday afternoon and will be concluded today. The teachers will not know for several weeks as to whether or not they have passed, and will secure teachers' certificates, as the papers are sent to the state superintendent of instruction for final investigation.

No Further Purchases.

At the business meeting of the school board, which was held Thursday night, no action was taken as to the purchasing of properties in wards 2 and 3 for sites for the erection of ward buildings, to be built at some later date.

It is understood that a number of available sites have been offered to the board and it is probable that purchases may be made within the next thirty days.
